

2018 Health Law Professors Conference

June 7-9, 2018

THE LAW-MEDICINE CENTER

Where Health Law Began

Founded in 1953, the Law-Medicine Center is the oldest law school-based center for the study of legal medicine and health law in the United States. This is the third time the Law-Medicine Center has hosted the Health Law Professors Conference. The 2018 conference will reprise two highly-rated features of previous conferences: the Friday evening dinner will be held at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, and attendees will be able to watch the exciting Parade the Circle event over lunch on Saturday.

The 2018 Health Law Professors conference takes place at Case Western Reserve University's new state of the art Tinkham Veale University Center and at Case Western Reserve School of Law across the street. Hotels and private shuttles offer attendees a choice of locations at University Circle, home of some of the nation's greatest museums and the new Uptown arts & entertainment district, or in downtown Cleveland near the lakefront, award winning restaurants, and many other amenities.
